the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995 (Department of Health 1996).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the quality of care in the public sector. The Department of Health (1996) has set out a number of key objectives for the public sector, including the need to improve the quality of care, to reduce waiting times, to improve the efficiency of the system, and to improve the financial performance of the system. The Department of Health (1996) has also set out a number of key principles for the public sector, including the need to be patient-centred, to be transparent, to be accountable, and to be efficient.

To the right: "I felt good; I was one step closer to getting out of my house," says Brittney Mitchell.

"I was not bothered. I was happy to leave middle school because it was too small," says Gabriel Marrero.

"I felt fine. I was glad to be away from middle school drama," says Candice Eriks.

"I felt older, not mature, but older," says Robert Guemsey.

"I was kind of nervous, but it was okay. My middle school classes were way too small," says Danielle Smith. Alexandra Crumle

To the left: "I felt much different. I like the way they teach in the United States; it's much different from teaching in Romania. I was excited but very confident," says Radu Apostoia.

"I was nervous but happy to get to know new people," says Charles Whisby.

"I felt like I belonged here already. I was confident that I could fit in and was happy to see my friends," says Sade James.

"I was nervous but confident that I could do the work. I was also nervous that I wouldn't know anyone since I came from Chicago. It was a big difference but a good difference because the classes are smaller here and I can learn more," says Alicia Balark. Photo by: Alexandra Crumble

To the left: "I was kind of excited but at the same time kind of scared but when I finally got here, it was straight," says Jessica Castellano.

"I was kind of excited because I was coming to the high school," says Lisa Thomas.

"I knew it was going to be a big change in my life, and I really enjoy Calumet HighSchool," says Stacey Lewis.

The Core of Calumet

Where would Calumet be without its wonderful staff? This year Calumet has Mr. Miller back as principal.

The Lake Ridge school board is responsible for making all of the decisions that concern the Lake Ridge school system. The Athletic Office must make sure that athletes are eligible to compete and must keep track of the time and place of the sporting events. The Main Office is in charge of student attendance, detentions, secretarial work, allocating funds, arranging for substitute teachers and school activities. The Guidance Office handles scheduling, report cards, tracking of class ranks, GPA, and giving students guidance from their counselors.

What was the hardest project that you had to do and why?

"Self portraits because it was hard to look into the mirror and draw myself," stated senior Rachel Harter.

"Carving relief sculptures because it took too long to complete," replied freshman Robert Guernsey.

"Self portraits because I can't draw good at all," commented senior Onrae Jordan.

"Making the mask because you have to sit still with plaster on your face the entire hour," commented senior Chris Waters.

"The hardest project I did was Relief Sculpture. It was hard for everyone," replied freshman Brandon Schomber.

Doing several different projects a year is just one of the draws to the art class. Tyra Tyrrell works on a sketch for her self-portrait. Photo By: Aimee Therault

Art is an elective that students can take any year throughout high school. Mrs. Cavazos teaches the different art classes.

There are different levels of art that students can take. Basic art, advanced art, drawing, painting, and sculpting are some of the classes taken. There are many creative students that find these classes very helpful toward their future. Projects made by some of the students can be found right outside of the art room.

The advanced art students must make one major project by the end of the year; it is then displayed in the school.

It All Adds Up !

What do you feel is the least important thing you have learned in Math class?

"I think the least important thing is finding the diameter and circumference of a circle," says Charles Rattray a Pre-Algebra student.

"I would probably have to say double angle formulas," says Andrea Montgomery a Pre-Calculus student.

"How to do geometric figures," says Leah Compton a Geometry student.

"I think factoring quadratic equations is the least important thing I have learned in math," says Cliff Hanes an Advanced Algebra student.

"Everything past Algebra, especially limitations and derivatives," says Alisia Bennett a Calculus student.

At Calumet High School students can take math classes ranging from the basics such as Problem Solving and Pre-Algebra to college prep classes such as Geometry, Trigonometry, and Calculus. These classes will help the students prepare for their lives ahead whether it is ringing up the cash register at Burger King, being an engineer for NASA or anything in between. Even though most students do not like math, it is a necessary every day skill they will need for the rest of their lives.

To help students better understand the work, Mr. Keehn often has students go to the board. In the Trigonometry class junior Michelle Fortenberry works out the quadratic formula on the chalk board. Photo By: Patricia Jakima

Bottom: Students can go to the library to research papers. Ashley Russell and Shayna Fouts take advantage of this time to catch up on gossip instead of researching. Photo By: Laura Yetko

The computer lab is open to all students throughout the school day to help with research. Working hard, Scott Kelly concentrates on typing a paper in the computer lab. Photo By: Kristina Munk

The Information Centers

The library is located upstairs by the middle set of stairs. The library has a wide variety of research material on hand. They have everything from computers and the internet to books and magazines. The library also has a very diverse selection of books for leisure reading. Students need their student ID or their student number to check out books. The library is run by Mrs. Long and assisted by Mrs. Jordan. The library is open to all students throughout the school day.

The computer lab is filled with computers. The computers are used for everything from checking e-mail to writing essays for English class. The computer lab is one of the best ways to find information quickly. Like the library, the computer lab is accessible to all students throughout the school day. The computer lab is run by Ms. Downing and Mrs. Hoffer.

Getting Technical

There are problems in life that cannot be solved by just reading a book. The technology classes teach students the answers they will need to solve these problems. The classes offered are technology and you, manufacturing, transportation, communications and construction.

Tech and you explores four different sections of technology. Manufacturing teaches how to weld, operate machinery, metal lathes, and vertical mills. In transportation the students learn how to build model rockets and mouse car race tracks. The activities of communications include graphic arts, technical drawing and electronic communication media. In construction class the students make houses, commercial/industrial buildings, roads, bridges, and various other things. There is an advanced class offered for all of the classes.

Top: There are always many different projects going on at one time in the technology classes. Junior Brian Cora practices with the robotic arm to learn more maneuver capabilities before he makes the final touches on his project. Photo By: Laura Yetko

In a World of Business.....

If there is one thing the students in this school will need in later life it is business. (This includes everything from buying a candy bar at the store to starting up their own business.) Some business classes, such as Intro to Business, are required. Other classes that are offered are Accounting I and II, Business Applications, and ICE/OJT. These classes teach the students the skills they will need for business in their life and how to apply those skills where they are needed. The students are taught everything from filling out applications and resumes to opening and balancing a checking account. This is a very useful course to take for later on in life.

Through the Pages of Time....

Who is your favorite person in history and why?

"Ben Franklin, because he is the reason for technology today," says junior Alycica Frenchman.

"Alexander the Great, because he conquered the known world of his time," says junior Jonathan Peterson.

"I admire Rosa Parks because she started the bus movement by not giving up her seat," says junior Rasheeda Easley.

"My favorite person is Cleopatra because she wore make-up," says sophomore Angela Yet-sko.

"Ceasar Chavez, because he helped out the minorities and stood up for their rights," says senior Andrea Varnado.

History is the study of the past. We study history so we will not be condemned to repeat past mistakes. Our future will be the history for future generations. That is why the students at Calumet are required to take certain History classes. Freshmen take Geography, the study of the land. Sophomores take World Civilization, the study of the different cultures of the world. Juniors take U.S. History, the study of the many cultures and their history in the United States. Seniors take a semester of Government and a semester of Economics. Government is the study of the history of the different types of government around the world. Economics is the study of money and its applications to the world.

Speaking in another Language

For people who want to experience different cultures, the foreign language classes are a good place to start. At Calumet, French and Spanish are the different languages offered. Advanced courses can be taken in both of these languages. The Spanish class is led by Mrs. Jones and the French class is led by Mrs. Potoma.

These classes take a trip to Europe and visit several countries to help the students learn more about foreign cultures. The trip is usually taken over spring break each year. The point of the trip is to get the students involved in the different cultures they are learning in class. The classes are an opportunity to learn about cultures all over the world.

Spanish III-Honors is a class that helps to develop speaking ability and expands on the writing abilities in Spanish. Here Samantha Marimen exhibits her outstanding in-class study skills. Photo By: Josh Woodward

What is your favorite saying and when do you use it?

"Ayay muchachia! I say it when I get frustrated with someone or someone does something stupid," says Laura Herrera a Spanish IV-H student.

"Bonjour, Je m'appelle Stéphanie! I use this when I introduce myself in class," says Stephanie Short a French II student.

"Me noble es Irene Robison! I use this when I introduce myself," says Jimada Robisona Spanish II student.

"Où est-ce que la salle de bains? This is said when I have to use the bathroom," says Mickey Parker the only French IV-II student.

"Où est-ce mon stylo? I use this when I can't find my pen," says Ashlee Pearce a French I student.

Below: In Physics it is necessary to do hands-on experiments in order to fully comprehend the real world applications of the lessons being studied. These students participate in an experiment about velocity and acceleration over time in the x direction. Photo By: Almee Theraud

In the Name of Science

At CHS it is required to take and pass two years of science. There are six different courses offered: Earth Science, Physical Science, Biology, Biology II, Chemistry, and Physics.

Earth Science and Physical Science are the two basic classes. For those who want a higher education they can take the other classes depending on what type of diploma they are getting.

In Biology they dissect a fetal pig and a mink, which helps the students relate the muscle and bone structure of the animals to that of humans.

Chemistry and Physics incorporate math with the basic sciences the students have already learned.

Right: Who says science can't be fun? Senior Humberto Torres stands on a scale in the school elevator as seniors Alexandria Crumble and Laura Yetsko record his weight and Samantha McKenney looks on during yet another Physics experiment with acceleration in the y direction. Photo By: Josh Woodward

Reeding wurks fur me!

English is the most important class a student will ever take in his/her entire life. English teaches more than how to speak, it also teaches us how to read, write and use correct grammar and punctuation. Students must pass four years of English to graduate.

All English classes cover short stories, novels, poems, plays, and writing. Students are given several projects throughout the year such as book reports, research papers, poster work, acting and presentations. The English department is made up of English, Honors English, and AP English. Two electives, Journalism and Yearbook, are also offered.

The end of this year brought the end of the teaching career for two of our teachers: Mrs. Barbara Sadja and Ms. Johnnie McCray.

Giving presentations in class help the students to better understand the material they are reading. Jill Spencer and Alison Flores work together to portray a scene from Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. Photo By: Patricia Jakima

What is your favorite story, novel, poem or play and why?

For Senior Brandy War-nock it is "Lamb of the Slaughter, she killed her husband and got away with it."

"Gifted Hands by Ben Carson. It was encouraging to me because I want to be a doctor," says Jimada Robinson.

Rebecca Wilson says, "A Child Called It. It's just a good book. It's about a mother who abuses her baby boy."

"A Child Called It. It is so sad and really good." Senior Tiffany Mahaffey defines this tragic story as her favorite also.

"Ann of Green Gables. It's a series of stories that has been around for a long time. It tells about a girl's life," says Shelly Hurley.

Athletics in Academics

Physical Education is the active class at Calumet High School. Freshmen are required to take one year of PE. The Phys Ed teachers include Mrs. Gabbert, Mr. Starewicz, and Mr. Steinhilber.

The required classes are PE and Health. Students are able to take Advanced PE and Weight Training up to their Senior year as an alternative.

Most students take these classes to relax from their rigorous academic schedule and learn actively. This elective is very popular and many people take it several times. In PE they play basketball, volleyball, baseball, soccer, hockey, football, swim and skate.

What was your greatest challenge in PE class?

"Writing the reports," says freshman Jarrod Imer in Mrs. Gabbert's first hour physical education class.

Kristie Hutchinson comments that she had the most trouble with "Taking the football test."

"Understanding the rules of football," was the hardest part for Romanian Radu Apostoia, another freshman.

Jeanette Bodnar says that "practicing and getting good at volleyball" was the greatest challenge for her.

"Making up a bunch of reports I didn't do" was the hardest part for freshman Bud Connor.

Taking Steps Outside of School

Many Calumet students in the 2001-2002 school year went to the Hammond Career Center to prepare for their future. The students are able to get hands on experience with their chosen career field. They can take classes from cooking, cosmetology, child care services to automotive and computer repair.

The students go to the center in the morning and attend their afternoon classes at CHS. The students at the center feel it opens doors to new opportunities. The classes offered help prepare students for the future by giving them real life training. These students have a world of opportunity waiting for them at the end of high school.

Pride Friday.

Pajama Day speaks for itself. Students wore their favorite pajamas. Freak Day, along with Cross-Dress Day, was quite interesting. Students dressed in dark colors to portray people in the "abnormal". Cross-Dress Day is probably the most participated day. Males get the chance to dress like females, and females get the chance to dress like males. This day enables people to have extreme fun without being made fun of. Color Day was a new idea. Each class picked a color, and wore that color to support their class. Seniors wore orange, Juniors wore pink, Sophomores wore green, and Freshmen wore blue. Warrior Pride Day is self-explanatory because we are the WARRIORS!

During the week of Homecoming, the Student Council organizes a week of fun events and funny sights. Known as Spirit Week, students participate daily by dressing for the theme of the day. The themes were: Pajama Day Monday, Freak Day Tuesday, Cross-Dress Day Wednesday, Color Day Thursday, and Warrior

Tradition in FULL!

"Although we didn't have much money, the float still turned out good." Kim Kwasniewski, Junior Class President.

"I was honored that my classmates voted for me. It was an exciting feeling!" Nichole Villarruel, Homecoming Queen 2001

Yes, it is true! The traditions are back in full at Calumet. With the return of a former Calumet graduate and principal, Mr. Miller, came the re-appearance of two known traditions of Calumet: the bonfire and the parade.

Since the parade had been discontinued in '98, and no current student had ever participated in it, the allowance of the parade brought excitement to many students. All of the floats were excellently designed. Not only the classes created floats, but also the ISL and the Dance Squad had floats. The Calumet Band led this successful parade.

On September 26, the LRVFD supervised our traditional bonfire. With the donations of local citizens, we had plenty of wood for our bonfire. It was an event full of fun and friends.

This year's Powder Puff game was full of tradition with the girls in their jerseys, and the guys in their skirts. The battle between the Senior Sophomore team and the Junior-Freshman team was full of excitement. With an outstanding performance, the Senior-Sophomore girls achieved a great victory with a score of 36-13.

With an excellent selection of candidates, the Homecoming crowning was memorable, full of smiles and tears.

Burning strong and bright, the returning bonfire lights up the path to an old tradition. We give thanks to Mr. Miller's generosity. Photo by: Liz Ward Saving a Life...One Pint at a Time.

"The blood drive is a great chance for others to show their kindness and patriotism," Joe Reid,
Student Council
President

Every year, Calumet, in association with Heartland Blood Centers, hosts their annual blood drive in March, but due to recent events in the nation, the blood drive was moved to November. With late notification, the outcome of the blood drive was not as large as usual, but it was still successful.

Blood drives are setup throughout the community, the state, and the country to help save lives. Giving blood is a way for people, Americans, to show their patriotism to their fellow people. Their patriotism, awakened by recent events, "is stronger than ever in our country's troubled time. Their donations, from the kindness of their hearts, will affect at least one person in a very special way. Their kindness is respected and extremely appreciated.

"Your organization's support of the community blood program helps us provide a safe and adequate supply of blood and blood products in area hospitals. Thousands of patients benefit from your generosity," commented Cher Zubay, Marketing Representative for Heartland Blood Centers.

Through the generosity of students and staff at Calumet this year's blood drive was able to collect 46 pints of blood. This blood drive was a great success.

A Club Of Honor

The National Honor Society is a community service organization that is made up of Calumet's finest students. The club is based on four characteristics: scholarship, character, leadership, service. To be in the club, a student must have an overall GPA of 3.2, show the four characteristics, and follow a strictly enforced no cheating policy. New members are always inducted in mid-March, and can be any sophomore, junior, or senior that meets the guidelines.

The club's largest and most expensive event is the induction. The funds used to purchase all that is needed are obtained through fundraisers such as Krispy Kreme sales. The induction consists of a dinner that is held in honor of the new inductees and a ceremony. The dinner is hosted by present members that bring large servings of side items while the club purchases the main dish and a cake. Junior members work the dinner. The ceremony consists of a candle lighting, a hall of fame inductee, and the seniors' most influential teachers.

The community service projects done by the club are abundant. Nursing home visits are one of the funnest projects. This project allows members to talk with the elderly, many times learning valuable lessons about life. For Christmas, the club usually constructs some kind of gift for the elderly. Safe Trick-or-Treat is also a very fun service project. On Halloween, in coordination with the student council, the club's members dress up in costumes and pass out candy to the little children. Each classroom serves like a house while the hallway is like a street, but this environment is much safer. Tutoring and other school-related projects are also performed by the club as an opportunity to expand the choice of service projects.

"Being in the National Honor Society is an honor and a privilege that both the members and others should strongly respect." Alex Crumble, Senior Member

"I take pride in being the president and a member of a club that has high ideals and serves its community well." Mickey Parker, President

"I think peer mediation is a tool that helps our students handle conflicts in a more mature way." Mrs. Massengill, Peer Mediation Sponsor

Peer Mediation is a club made up of some of Camet's finest young people. Having to obtain good character and a teacher referral promises that each peer mediator is fit for the job. Peer Mediation is set up through the Guidance Department to allow students who may quarrel or disagree to have a chance to talk instead of receiving punishment. Students find it much easier to talk to their peers than to adults. People of the same age group can often talk more comfortably between one another and resolve their problems through analyzing their differences. Whenever a peer mediation is held, two peer mediators, a teacher, and the two quarrelling students will be in attendance. The meetings will help the students to talk and inform them of their choices if they don't wish to settle their differences. The items addressed at the meetings are, however, kept confidential. Fortunately, the peer mediators usually solve the problem.

Driving Against Hunger

Every year the Calumet Student Council prepares and organizes two food drives: one at Thanksgiving and one at Christmas. Donations from the students and the faculty of Calumet as well as donations from the community made up the amounts of non-perishable goods that are given to the less fortunate families.

Although this year was his first year as Student Council advisor, Mr. Boufis took action for the food drives without hesitation. With the help of Joe Reid, Student Council President, Mr. Boufis had no problems with the preparations of the food drives. He quickly arranged many different ways of collecting canned goods and other non-perishable goods.

Although Mr. Boufis did a great job, the success of the food drives couldn't be possible without the students who volunteered to organize the food baskets and deliver them.

About three to four days before Thanksgiving and Christmas, members of the Student Council stayed after school to separate non-perishable goods and put them in boxes that were to be delivered to unnamed families throughout the Lake Ridge Community. Those who volunteered also delivered the boxes of food with a gallon of milk, one loaf of bread, and one turkey purchased by the Student Council and the National Honor Society.

"It's a worthwhile activity that helps those truly in need. It shows the generosity of Calumet students and the community for one another." Mr. Boufis, Student Council Advisor

Below: While organizing the cans of food, Julie Dye and David Denisuk also count the cans of food to be sure that each family receives the same amount of non-perishable goods. Students from the freshman class to the senior class volunteered their time to help aid the families of the community that are in need.

Below: Helping the newcomer, senior Mickey Parker explains the importance of organizing the non-perishable goods to confused sophomore Craig Tribble. Events such as the food drive not only give community involvement, but also can build strong character and close relationships between the members of the student body.

Sweets and Treats in Safety!

Without sidewalks or street lights, Calumet Township has become an unsafe area for children at night. It had left them with no safe place to trick or treat. So on Halloween, October 31, 2001, the Calumet Student Council and the National Honor Society hosted the Fourth Annual Safe Trick or Treat at Calumet High School. Members from the two clubs joined forces to create a

With a small admission of one non-perishable food item, the kids were let in to gather candy in safety. The food collected was used for the Thanksgiving Food Drive. With a count of over 300 bags of candy, the outcome of the event was very successful. With recent events in the nation, parents felt very unsafe letting their kids trick or treat from door to door in the community. The halls of Calumet, however, brought a very comfortable sense of safety to parents. Being held by honest leaders of the school, the parents did not have to worry about their kids.

Each club member was assigned a classroom from which they passed out candy. They also decorated their doors to give the environment an aura of Halloween spirit. About twenty-two students participated in the event which gave the kids plenty of doors to knock on.

HEART HEART

On February 16, 2002, over sixty-five students gathered at Calumet for the winter Valentine's Dance, "Heart to Heart". The dance was organized chiefly by the efforts of Mr. Boufis, Patricia Jakima, and Laura Herrera. Several different faculty members volunteered to chaperone the dance. The members of the Calumet Booster Club also donated and prepared many different small edibles and drinks. Plans for the dance began in late November as to who would be in charge and when the dance would be.

Nominations for king and queen were held five days before the dance. Each class had four candidates for king and four candidates for queen. On the morning of the sixteenth, ten students met at Calumet to decorate the commons area for the dance. They were bought lunch for volunteering their time and they all had a great time, although the dance hadn't even started.

The night had come and it couldn't have been better. The temperature outside was comfortable and relaxing. Students started arriving around seven o'clock. Like always, students took a while to get on the dance floor, but, by the end of the night, all were dancing and having a good time. At 8:30 p.m., the music was halted and the students in attendance gathered to the side to watch the announcing of the court. The winners were crowned, and they had their dance. The night ended quickly with happy smiles and memories.

Getting their groove on, all that attended the dance enjoyed themselves on the dance floor during one of the more fast beat songs. The students all had a great time dancing and mingling with friends. Photo by Mossy Jones

P.U.S.H.ing Drugs Away

P.U.S.H. or Prevention Using Student Help, is a national organization that has a cozy home at Calumet. The organization uses high school students to talk to fourth graders about the dangers of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco. They tell the children the truth about drugs, not trying to hide anything, so that the information may stay in their heads as they mature and face peer pressure.

Every October, new and former members of P.U.S.H. go through twenty hours of training over a period of two days. They are taught by trained professionals about the true dangers of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco. In their training, many times the members receive information that the majority of the public doesn't even know.

P.U.S.H. participates in two important events every year. First, they spend hours hanging posters and red ribbons around the high school during Red Ribbon Week. During each day of this week, they post an important fact about the dangers of drugs to the student body. Also, they go to the three elementary schools. For a week at a time, they travel to each school to teach the children the importance of being drug-free.

On February 12, 2002, the Guidance Department held the Second Annual Student Recognition breakfast. The breakfast is held to acknowledge those students who made Honor Roll or Perfect Attendance for the first semester. Many different teachers volunteered to help set up, serve, and clean up. Since the students were being honored, they did not have to pay to attend the breakfast. All the funds were supplied by the Guidance Department.

The funds used to hold the breakfast were raised during the fall with a raffle open to the entire school. All the prizes for this raffle were donated by the faculty at Calumet. The Guidance Department also held another raffle in January, in which, the funds were used to honor Calumet's deceased.

For the breakfast, cheese omelets, bacon, hash browns, and donuts were served. At the beginning of the breakfast, each student was given a raffle ticket for a chance to win a prize. There were over three tables that were full of prizes from hairdryers to car cleaning kits. All of these prizes were donated by the faculty and citizens throughout the Lake Ridge community.

Spelling, Debating, Competing

The Spellbowl, Debate, and Academic teams are very similar because they are all sponsored by Ms. Potoma, the French teacher, and Mrs. Jones, the Spanish teacher. These three clubs are closely coached and strongly supported by the two teachers. Although only one of the teams is named after academics, all three of the teams are made up of Calumet's academically strong students.

Being composed of eleven people, the Spellbowl Team still shows strong skill. Starting at the beginning of the year, the team meets once a week to study a very lengthy word list. Placing fifth in their competition, the team not only pleased their coaches, but also their fellow students.

The Debate Team, the smallest of the three teams, works like the Congress. They go to competitions and are introduced with government influenced questions facing the problems of today. The members of the team must then debate with students from other schools while being judged on their ideas and opinions. This year, newcomer Elizabeth Ward did an excellent job against other schools that had very strong Debate Teams.

The Academic Team most definitely shows their skill by being strongly disciplined. Always placing high among other schools, who some actually have classes and tutors for this event, our team brings pride to those who respect the academic side of things.

Hollywood Hotel

On November 7, 2002, the Calumet Drama Club performed Hollywood Hotel, their first play of the year. Hollywood Hotel is a play about three young women who go to Hollywood with dreams to be big. Needing a home, they rent an apartment at a place called Hollywood Hotel. With their apartment being the hot spot, visitors from retired actresses to vampires are constantly stopping in. After time goes on, the three young women face hardships, but in the end, come out on top in Hollywood. The play was a success, full of laughs and smiles.

Lip Synching

On February 7, 2002, the Calumet Drama Club held another great performance. The Fourth Annual Lip Synching Performance was totally cool. The students of Ms. McCray's sixth period Drama class did lip synching for their semester final. Shortly after, permission was granted for an afternoon assembly as a chance for the Drama students to show off their talent. With early preparation of the performance, the show was destined to be great. With performances from Usher to Josie and the Pussycats, the show was full of hip variety and fashionable style.

Music to Our Ears

Band and chorus are two of the hardest working clubs at Calumet. Practicing for many hours at a time at school and home, the members of these two clubs earn their recognition.

The band is not only an extra-curricular activity, but also a class in which credits can be earned. The class time occupied by the band is used as a time for practicing for upcoming events such as football and basketball games, solo and group competitions. The band opens every home football game by playing the National Anthem, and closes each by playing the school song. Most competitions that the band participates in are held in large numbers with other schools, our band being one of the smaller schools. The band also performs in a spring concert every year which is always held in the auditorium.

The chorus, like the band, is also a class in which credits can be earned. The chorus also uses their time in the classroom as a practice session, but they also sometimes leave during class time to perform at such places as Wiseway, the libraries, and nursing homes. Not only are the members of the chorus graded on classroom participation, but also on their performances during chorus events. Each member of the class must participate in all events sponsored by the chorus. The chorus also attends productions of area theater that may help them better their knowledge in the art of singing.

CLASS OLYMPICS

On March 28, 2002, the yearbook hosted the Class Olympics during sixth period. The Class Olympics is a series of contests in which the four classes compete against each other for points and a cash prize for the class account. The contests were as follows: pie eating, basketball shooting, tug-of-war, toilet paper wrapping, hula hoop, pin-the-tail-on-the-Warrior, licorice eating, and a relay race.

Below: Wrapping quickly, Nick Jointer turns Kevin Kwasnewski into a living mummy during the toilet paper wrapping contest. This contest was harder than it looks because the toilet paper was very tearable. Photo by Josh Woodward Weeks before the event, the yearbook began organizing the materials they needed after receiving permission from the principal to host the event. The staff picked out the contests and gave out assignments to members of the staff. Each group was in charge of making the rules for each contest. The week prior to the event, tickets were sold to those who wanted to compete for only fifty cents; the week of the event, tickets were sold to those who wanted to watch for only one dollar.

The event started promptly after the sixth hour bell and lasted until two o'clock. The four classes showed incredible competition against one another while the spectators gave great support to their fellow classmates. All of the lower classes wanted to beat the seniors, but in the end, the seniors reigned. Not only was this an opportunity for the classes to show their spirit, but it was also a chance to have fun and to show the strengths of each class. We all say thanks to our principal, Mr. Miller, for letting us hold this event.

"It's Your Love"

On April 26, 2002, the junior class sponsored the junior-senior prom. The theme was "It's Your Love". The colors were white and pink. The dinner and dance were held in the ballroom at Wicker Park in Munster, Indiana.

The doors opened at 6:30 p.m. while the dinner was not served until seven. The half hour before dinner gave everyone a chance to mingle among the people and to see the many different dress styles that were chosen for the night. After the dinner was served, the dance floor was open to all.

Most of the time, the inhabitants of the dance floor consisted of juniors and seniors, but more than once did the seniors take over the floor to dance together as a class for one of the last times. Songs such as "Graduation" and the "Y.M.C.A." were special dedications.

At roughly nine o'clock, the members of the court (Males: Abe Dukes, Dennis Frazee, Brian Reiser, and Walter Little; Females: Cueta Picarova, Kim Kwasniewski, Wendy Bennett, and Michelle Fortenberry) gathered as they were about to start their walk onto the dance floor. The candidates were announced, and only a short while later, the winners were announced. They were Cueta Picarova as queen and Abe Dukes as king. The two had their dance while others slowly joined them on the dance floor for one more slow dance.

The Calumet High School newspaper is known as The Warrior Press. They put out at least one newspaper every month. The newspaper staff is composed of just over ten people. They somehow always find enough money to have the paper printed and available to the students for free.

When the paper is printed, the editor, Liz Ward, picks the paper up from the printers and brings it to school before lunch time. The papers are then distributed to the students at lunchtime. Students are not required to take a paper, but many students do.

The topics of the articles in the paper are decided by the editor and co-editor, but suggestions are accepted by the staff and even students within the school. Many members of the paper choose to write about current trends in today's world while there is always school news in the paper. One member writes about haunted places around the area while another writes about movies and music. The topics are very diverse and interesting.

At the end of the year, the newspaper always does a special senior edition. They ask seniors about what they will do with their futures and print them in the paper. Many seniors also write good-byes or they will something that they have accomplished in high school to an underclassman. The paper prints all of these requests in the senior edition for free.

The makers of this...

Every year a new class comes in and has to learn everything from the beginning. Made up mostly of seniors, the yearbook class must start fresh each year because the members graduate and move on in life.

This year was definitely no exception. With a class of all new members, the programs used had to be learned and known, inside and out. Immediately, the class had to get on the ball to think of a theme and a cover design. With many diverse ideas, the class finally decided on a hand-drawn cover and the theme "Through the Eye of a Warrior." Soon after, sections had to be assigned to the class. With a staff of sixteen, three people were assigned to each section, except for two on the ads/index. Although some sections are smaller than others, every section is of the same importance.

Without money there would be no yearbook, and it is the staff's responsibility to earn that money. The staff earned money in many different ways. The main money-maker is book sales to students. Next is the sale of business ads, for which the staff takes a day off school to go into the community to sale ads. Candy sales are also a big money-maker, which would not be possible without Ms. Green. This year we also made money on the Class Olympics.

Have a Time Full of Fun...

On May 21, the Class of 2002 attended their senior banquet. The banquet was held in the commons area at the high school. The banquet included dinner, the presenting of the gag awards, and a dance.

The dinner went quickly. The cafeteria staff prepared all the food, while the athletic department donated all the refreshments. After the dinner was served, the cafeteria staff surprised the seniors with homemade ice cream sandwiches.

The presenting of the gag awards started promptly after the dinner. They were presented in six different categories: High School Stars, A Little Different From the Rest, Most Likely, Socially Challenged, Leaders of Today, Leaders of Tomorrow, and Blessed By Nature. Each category had two presenters, one male and female. People such as Mickey "Chops" Parker, Mike "Motorcycle" Bytnar, and Andre'a "The Mut" Varnado were only a few of those who presented.

The dance started after the gag awards. Brickie Photo took pictures during the dance. The music was fast-paced, and the seniors loved it. They all did the Electric Slide and the Cha Cha Slide. Although the dance was full of loud noises, a time came when the crowd was quiet as they all remembered the loss of a fallen Warrior, Gavonni Jordan. A song was dedicated to him while the seniors gathered in a circle of support. The seniors went to Hooters after the banquet.

Off to Bigger and Better Things

On June 9, 2002 at 2:00 p.m., we seniors made our entrance into the Calumet Fieldhouse. The silent sounds of the people suddenly changed into loud cheers and applause. The feelings of joy ran through our bodies, but at the same time, so did feelings of sadness that it was all over. Our four years here at Calumet were gone. We looked at each other before sitting down, and we all held back tears that were building up in the small corners of our eyes.

Mr. Miller opened the ceremony with a short statement. Laura Herrera led the crowd in the pledge. Samantha McKenney welcomed all those in attendance. Alexandria Crumble said a prayer. Josh Woodward gave the school history. David Victor gave the class history.

As salutatorian, Mickey Parker approached the stage with confidence, prepared to give his salutatory address. His message was strong. He told the crowd about life and its importance of being lived. He said the only way to truly live one's life was to forget the past and the future, just worry about what is happening right now.

Alexandria Crumble came to the stage with her always glowing smile. She opened her speech with a thanks to her family and friends. Alex talked about how she would not see her former classmates at school anymore, but she would see them in her heart. The heart, she said, is the place where all memories live forever.

The 2001 Warriors were one of the best teams in CHS history, with the potential to be state champs. However, the team was decimated by injuries. In fact, there was an inordinate amount of injuries in one game: seven. After this game, we lost three games straight, including a heartbreaking 16-18 loss to Morton for the conference championship. Then, the team came together and won the final two regular season games. We hobbled into the sectionals but played the state runner-up to a 7-0 halftime tie; two slips on a lousy field and a few other plays made a major difference in the final outcome.

The senior class finished their Calumet careers with a 20-11 record.

We will greatly miss: Alaniz, Baker, Campbell, Cusic, Davis, Diaz, Dusynski, Gales, Hernandez, Johnson, Kelly, Koch, Kurek & Kurek, Leviner, Patrick, Torres, Victor, Williams, Wise, and Wynkoop.

Senior Quotes

"Football was fun, and it was an experience that I will never forget. I had fun hitting people with my friends. I'm glad that I came out for football and that I was a part of a new winning tradition here." - Humberto Torres

"Football was really one of the only things that kept me in high school. The experience in playing the sport changed me, like it made me stronger, smarter, and a little bit quicker. Yeah, I made a lot of teams, but none of those teams will compare with my Calumet Warriors. I love you all!" - DeMarreo Campbell

Running Warrior Style

The Warriors did an excellent job this year. The boys placed third out of 12 teams to qualify for regionals. In regionals the boys placed sixth out of twenty teams. The girls placed eighth out of twelve teams during sectionals. Individual accomplishments include: Junior Dennis Frazee who had four first place finishes. He became the Lowell Invitational Champion and made a new school record. Dennis ran well enough to get second place on the First Team All Conference. Senior Ivan Ignacio placed seventh on the First Team All Conference. Sophomore Lisa Scott had many accomplishments including breaking the school record and becoming the Lowell Invitational Champion. She also had three first place finishes. Everyone made progress this year and Coach Stigall is very proud of each and every person. For a sport that is this difficult and challenging, everyone gave it their all. All our Warrior runners trained and practiced hard to bring our school to victory.

"This year was very prosperous for our Girls' Cross Country team. Everyone did her best! I am going to miss the whole Cross Country family."

"Running is an addiction for me. If I'm not running six days a week for an hour or more, I go crazy. Training around 300 days a year is hard, but it pays off for only three months of Cross Country. I will miss running with Crazy Frazee. Sleep... Eat... Live... Run... That's my life."

Swinging into History

This year's girls golf team was the first in the history of Calumet High School. The girls golf team was the newest team at CHS and Coach Green had to do the painstaking job of assembling a list of girls who were interested in playing. Coach Green thought that it would be an excellent opportunity for the girls of CHS to learn a sport that they could play their entire life. It also gave the girls another sport to be involved in at CHS.

Out of twelve names, only five players saw the idea through. None of the new players had ever played golf before, therefore they got off to a rough start during the first few days. After going through some etiquette and rules, it eased their way into playing one or two holes. Once the team was assembled and learned to play, they started to make history for Calumet. Even though the girls won only one game, many of them received awards for their efforts.

"I'm glad I was able to have the experience of playing girls' golf. It was a great opportunity for me to learn a sport I can play for years to come. I wish I could have had at least one more year to play, but it was great to be able to play one year in my high school career." — Kathy Beehn

Bump, set, spike!

The JV and Freshman Volleyball teams enjoyed very successful seasons this year. The Freshman team finished 4-3 and the JV team finished 7-5 in the LAC and had a 14-9 overall finish. Coach Magee said that the JV was hardworking and dedicated and displayed courage and pride. They always played hard and came out and beat teams that no one thought they could beat like Andean, Munster, and Lowell.

Her proudest moment was in the LAC tourney. In previous years the JV had been eliminated in the first and second rounds, but this year they made it to the championship round. They beat Whiting, Lowell, and even Munster, only to fall to Highland in the Championship round.

The mighty mighty Lady Warriors!!!

This year's CHS varsity volleyball team strived for improvement. With only two seniors, the majority of the team consisted of juniors. This did not stop the team from coming together in team spirit. This year's team successfully won more games overall than in past seasons. Our Lady Warriors had an overall record of 10 and 20. A few of our outstanding leading Lady Warriors achieved great accomplishments. Senior Alexandria Crumble was awarded First Team All Conference and All Area Honorable Mention. Senior Nichole Villarruel was awarded All Conference Honorable Mention. Junior Michelle Fortenberry was awarded LAC First Team All Conference and Second Team all Area. Because Alexandria and Nichole gave the team enthusiasm and support, they will both be greatly missed.

One Love..... For The Game

This year started off as a struggle when Mr. Tauber did not have enough players come out to fill the varsity roster. After discussing the disappointing show, Mr. Tauber's four athlete's recruited some freshmen boys to fill the vacancies. The team came out strong and finished the year 7-12 and 6-8 in the LAC. The team finished sixth in the LAC tourney being one of only two teams to finish above their original seed. The boys did an excellent job in leading Calumet to victory and our school thanks them for that.

Youthful Wrestlers, Struggle In Duals, Tough In Tournaments

The Warrior wrestlers recorded their second consecutive losing season, for the first time in school history, while gaining valuable experience for their youthful lineup. While struggling to a 4-10 mark in duals, the Tribe achieved some major success in tournament action. They grappled their way to: sixth at the Lake Central Harvest Classic; 7th at the Traicoff Memorial; 2nd at Wawasse; 8th at Mishawaka; 3rd at Lake County; 7th in the Lake Athletic Conference; and 2nd at the sectionals. The sport of wrestling is unique in that there are two types of meet scoring systems, dual meets and tournaments. To be a successful dual meet team, you need 8 out of 14 matches in order to win most dual meets you compete in. Tournament scoring, on the other hand, rewards wrestlers for advancing to the late rounds of a tournament and placing several in the top 3-4 individual rounds. This team's dedication, and hard work paid off more than any of their losses because it has strengthened them for many years to come.

More Than Just Splashing Around!

The school can be proud of the few who gave up their time and went through the pain and suffering of long and hard practices, only to be outnumbered and overmatched at most of their meets. It's not where you start, but where you finish that counts. Most of our swimmers improved their times by the end of the season. Our goals for next season are to build our numbers and improve our swimming skills.

Shooting Into the Future

Surprisingly, our Girls' Freshman Basketball Team achieved more than what anyone expected of them. They always showed enthusiasm for the game no matter how hard they struggled. As far as these freshman girls go, this basketball team had the most dedication for girls who were only 14 or 15 years old. To have dedication at this age is a great trait that builds character.

As a team, they went into every game expecting to win; they were that confident about themselves. They didn't always stay focused in practice though, they enjoyed goofing around sometimes. Coach Stevenson wanted his girls to have fun, he didn't want them to ever get bored with the game. The team's motto was, "If you expect the worst and hope for the best, you'll never be surprised."

Bouncing Toward Success

Playing basketball with passion, love, excitement and intensity describes the jay-vee girls' team this year. Each player, whether they spilt time with the varsity, the freshman team, or neither, showed complete dedication to the Lady Warriors basketball program. Players in the program worked hard on improving as a team and as individuals.

Success was imminent for these players because of their commitment. Each player cheered on her teammates and shared in the joy of victory as well as in the disappointment of defeat. With an 11-7 record, the jayvee enjoyed a successful season. Of the seven losses four were by three points or less. Each game was a fun experience for these girls who hope to move up and help the varsity team in the future.

Achieving Victory with the Lady Warriors

A team has never shown as much effort as the Lady Warriors did this year. The season started out well with their first win against Boone Grove 53 - 50. Later in the season, these varsity players had won over fourteen games and had only six losses.

Because of the team's hard work and dedication in the summer and in the off season, their success was abundant. Many of them participated in the East Chicago summer league as well as other AAU teams and Gus Macker. Despite the loss of Senior Alexandria Crumble due to a heartbreaking injury to her ACL, the team remained successful. Many goals were accomplished and many records were set and broken. Look out for the Warriors next year, as they will be even more spectacular and successful!

Ms. Downing has never been this proud of any team. Not only will the Lady Warriors lose Senior Alexandria Crumble but will also lose Senior Tricia Sheaks. They both will be greatly missed by their coach and their teammates.

Winning Warrior Style

Every game they played the JV and the freshman teams always fought hard. Most JV players showed off their skills, trying to reserve a position on next year's team. No player can be labeled as a quitter on this aggressive team. As a whole, these two teams exemplified the true meaning of teamwork.

Most people forget about the Freshman team, but they work just as hard as the J.V. and Varsity teams. The Freshman team was committed, hard working and had a very strong love for the basketball program. Coach Cross worked hard with his players all year in every aspect from basic skills to team unity; in doing so, he molded a strong Warrior basketball program at Calumet High School.

Better Than the Rest

The boys' varsity basketball team came out this year with a tremendous burst going five and zero. The team planned on keeping an unbeaten record and won against such teams as Hobart, Morton, and Clark. These, and other victories, have lead this team to become stronger and work harder together.

With the team doing so well credit must be given to Coach Steinhilber and the players themselves. Calumet will miss the senior players Chris Waters, DeMarreo Campbell, Chris Yarbough, David Victor, Eric Baker, Dwayne Pruitt, and Scotty Kelly.

Just because the Dance Squad was limited in numbers, this did not stop them from giving their all throughout the season. These Lady Warriors worked hard this year to entertain the crowds of the varsity football and basketball fans during halftime. Warrior Netters

Even though this year's girls' tennis team did not do as well as they had hoped to, Mr. Tauber was just as proud of them as any of the other teams he has ever coached. Tennis is a team sport with individual results predicting the team's overall performance. If one set of the two double teams or the 3 sets of the single players does not pull through, then the team as a whole can suffer. This is what makes tennis a sport that keeps an individual constantly working to improve. At times a person can be happy about their individual win but at the same time be upset about the team's score. In the end everyone had their hands full of individual wins which to some meant more than the disappointing overall team record. Next year will be another building year, but Mr. Tauber is up to the challenge.

Show Us Some Spirit!

For the first time in many years, the Calumet cheerleading squad added male lifters. This was a great opportunity for the squad to exemplify their talent in a more expressive way. Even though this year's varsity and jv teams did not have many cheerleaders, they showed their great spirit in small numbers. These dedicated Warriors practiced long and hard hours to achieve the status they accomplished. Coach Spencer helped influence the cheerleaders and lifters to give it their all. This year is a stepping stone for the years to come with the effect the lifters gave while creating a different style to our cheerleading squad.

Senior Quotes

"I enjoyed all four years of being a cheerleader at Calumet. My experiences will last me a lifetime including meeting my best friend Tiana Barham. I love you girl. I'm going to miss everyone especially Carrie. Good luck to all the future cheerleaders." —Patricia Pusateri

"Throughout my four years of high school, cheerleading was my #1 priority. The cheering was tough and the work was hard, but it was worth every second of my time. I am going to miss my days as a cheerleader for Calumet." —Rebecca Watson

Three Strikes, You're Out !!!

For many of the softball players, they couldn't wait for the season to begin. The team was full of talented players who fell one game shy of the school's won-loss record. The team ended the season with a 7-14 record and many highlights.

Junior Kim Kwasniewski was featured in a local newspaper for her outstanding pitching. Coach

Vaznonis was quoted as saying that Kim was the heart and soul of the team, and she was. She worked hard to perfect her pitching style and technique. She led her team from the mound and the plate and felt like the team's success hinged on her arm. However, she did not let any thing disrupt her concentration on the mound. She was a true team player too. She complimented her teammates for their strong defense and their desire to win.

Kim was not the only locally recognized player on the team. Junior Wendy Bennett was chosen to the first team All-Conference team. Wendy was a catcher and shortstop for the Lady Warriors.

The team looks to build on this great foundation and anticipates greatness in the future. They're hoping to recruit a lot more eager players for next year.

Rough Diamond Play

Rough times faced the Warriors this year on the baseball diamond. The season saw quite a few disappointing games. With a 4-19 record and a loss of members throughout the season, it was tough on the Warriors to field a competitive team.

Losing players during the season - from quitting to injuries - meant many underclassmen were called upon to fill a void. There were some sparkling moments for the team and some individuals who played with heart and determination throughout the rough times. It is that dedication and pride that should help the team in the future become more competitive again.

The Ultimate Experience

Running is not always the favorite past time of many students. Training and running and doing sprints and lifting weights and running some more just doesn't seem like the best thing to do for many of our students. However, for a proud few, those are the things they live for and so they join track!

Sure, some of them believe if they just compete in the field events, the running won't pertain to them and they can just show up at practice and throw a discus or run through the sand. It's not like they shun away from the running because it is something they hate, they just don't want to spend all their time with it.

Track members are always trying to outdo their previous best and that alone sets them apart from many other athletes at Calumet. Wearing a watch that includes a timer is just one of the many traits of a track member. That watch becomes their most prized possession when trying to beat a previous time. It's not that a track team member doesn't think about the team, because they do. They want to win as a team, but most of their driving force is trying to become better at what they do - and thus, helping the team do better.

Maurice Johnson was the lone track star to make it to the state tournament where he placed 18th in the 100m dash.

Shooting For Par

Young and eager describes the Warrior linksters this year. The team consisted of a few juniors who have played for three years. Their experience helped the younger guys on the team know what to expect at golf matches throughout the year. Unfortunately, rain forced many courses to shut down for a few days because they were too wet or flooded to use. This caused our golfers to adapt to the situation and the weather and play whenever they could. All the golfers had a great time and enjoyed the season tremendously.

What a WARRIOR is:

Warriors are alert, always faithful. They never sleepwalk through life. They know through clarity of thinking through discernment. They live a life of great discipline and courage. They have an uncompromising commitment to the truth and their actions reflect this commitment. They are willing to suffer physically, mentally, and spiritually to achieve their goals.

Who do you admire most?

Dwyane Pruitt—"My grandmother because she does everything for me regardless of what it is."

David Victor—"Coach Haas because he was able to put up with the jokes from the basketball team because of his speech dialect."

Eric Baker—"My mom because she's always there for me."

Kevin Patrick—"Batman because he's my hero."

Chris Roark—"2-pac because he kept it real throughout his life."

Chris Waters—"Allen Iverson because he's a great basketball player and everyone's always putting him down but he still excels."

Kellee Garcia—"Jay-Z because he's a genius."

When God made Adam he said "Well done." When he gave you to us, he gave a perfect son. Love, Dad and Mom

Humberto Torres

We want to tell you that since you came into our lives, we've had happiness. We worked hard to teach you good ideas and to work hard and to get a good education. We want you to be somebody with good character who loves to help people. We are so proud of you and hope that you successfully continue your education. Good luck and God bless in everything you do in your life.

Love, Mom and Dad

Alicia Cooper

You were my #1 baby, but now you are grown, and you are about to graduate and be on your own. Whatever you choose to do, I'll stand by you, whatever you choose for your career. For you, I will always be here. Good luck!

Love, Your proud Mom

*Congratulations
You did it!*

Joey Reid

Even at the age of two, you were making your plans for the future. We know you will succeed in whatever decisions you will make. Love, Mom and Dad

Ms. Mikey Tubla, Congratulations on your graduation! We can never tell you how grateful we are that you are in our lives. You are a good, gentle person with a super kind heart; we are very proud of you. Whatever your calling is in life always remember that you are surrounded by loved ones! Love, Big papa and the boys

Josh Woodward

Congratulations, you are a person who cares; I know you will go far in life. I'm so proud of you and all you have accomplished. Love, Sue (Missy's Mom)

For my daughter Irene, I just wanted to say congratulations. I am very proud of you for not letting anything or anyone interfere with your dreams. I want you to know that I love you very much. You know how the stars shine at night, well you are one of my stars that shines so brightly. You bring a beautiful glow into my heart. Love, Mom

Nolan, Step into your future with a prayer in your heart and a song in your soul. Step into your future with faith in the Lord and the abilities He has given you. Love you, Mom and Dad and your family

Congratulations to our daughter the graduate "Rebecca Lynn Watson" a.k.a. "Becky"; you finally did it! It's been a long twelve years, but from you, as usual, just another great accomplishment. We've waited for this day for a long time. We never had a doubt in our minds that you could do it. You've made us so proud of you.

Good luck and God bless in everything that you do. You are the best!
Love, Mom and Dad

Congratulations
You did it!

Amanda,

We are so very proud of you. You have come a long way and changed from a little girl, into a beautiful young woman. Good luck in all you do, and remember not to cut yourself short in life, and always settle for the best. We know you will accomplish your life long dreams. Thank you for sticking it out and making us all so very proud. Mom and Jill

Congratulations
You did it!

Congratulations! Jason Owensby, with all the fussing over the years about homework, you finally did it. It's hard to believe the time has come for you to graduate. Time has passed by so quickly. You've grown to be such a handsome young man, and we are very proud of you. Your Grandpa would also be proud. We love you son! Keep up the good work! Love, Mom, Paul, Grandma, Duane, Dad, William, Raleigh, and Grandpa

Peter, It is with great pride that I congratulate you on your graduation. You have the attributes to succeed in all you do. As you grow into adulthood and have a family of your own, remember there is no book that will teach you how to raise the perfect family. Do the best you can spiritually and emotionally, give them all the love you have and God will take care of them. Love, Dad

Tiffany, It is so hard to believe that you are graduating already. Your mother and I are so proud of you. We know that you will be successful in anything that you attempt after graduation. Always know that we will always be there for you, and in my heart, you will always be my little girl. Love always, Dad and Mom

You did it!

Patty Jakima,

I'm very proud of you. May the road you take lead you to success and happiness. You have come a long way with many accomplishments to your credit. As you take the next step in life, never let go of your hopes and dreams because if you believe in them hard enough they can come true. You will always be in my thoughts and prayers.

Love always, Dad

Congratulations
You did it!

Nichole Villarruel,

If you can reach out, you can hold on. If you can imagine, you can achieve. If you just begin, you can continue. Search within and you'll find a reason to believe...If you can get involved, you can make it happen. If you can give, you will be rewarded with the taking. If you can climb, you can climb even higher. Envision it; your success is in the making. Love, Mom, Chuck, Charles, Elizabeth

Missy Jones,

On the day you were born, we were blessed. You continue to bless us. We will always be proud of you. Congratulations, sunshine. With Love, Mom, Dad and Sandi

Christina Coleman,

We want you to know how very proud we are of you in all of your accomplishments. You knew how much we love you and no matter how hectic or challenging we will always be

Laura Yetsko,

Well Peaches, you're sure come a long way. We are so proud of you. Congratulations, you made it! Love Always, Mom, Dad, and Angie

Keturah Turner, It's been said that life is like a box of chocolates and you never know just what you're gonna get. Yet, always remember one totally simple thing and that is to love. You see, from love came joy, and from joy sprang peace. Actually, nothing but the best awaits you, Keturah, so live long and prosper. Best wishes always and forever. With all our hope and the truest love, Your family, The Turners

You did it!

there for you. May all your hopes and dreams come true. Hugs and kisses! We love you, Mom, Dad, Jen, and Toshia

Laura Herrera,

You were answer to my prayers: a baby girl. Your dad would always say to you, "Please don't grow up." You were like a porcelain doll to us- fragile and beautiful. Many times, while we pushed you in the grocery cart, people would come up to us to see if you were real or a doll. You sat so still. Never cried, never a bother. At age two you could sit in front of the TV for hours watching channel 11's educational programs. We should have realized this was an indication of your academic excellence.

Laura, for 18 years you have made us so proud to be your parents and sister to Roger and Renee.

Mom and Dad

Congratulations
You did it!

Chrissy Coleman,

I know the last year has been hard for you with school, work, and that baby. Through good times and bad times you stuck it out. You were very strong. This was the easy part. It only gets harder. I hope you stay strong. Keep your head up and shoot for your goals. I am very proud of you. I will be here for you for anything you need. I wish you all the luck in the world for the future you have ahead of you.

My Love Always,
Joey

Brandon Dean Davis,
Congratulations! Your hard work has finally paid off! We are so very proud of you and your accomplishments! The years have past by so fast, it is hard to realize that you are graduating, and will be on to bigger and better things. We know you will succeed in everything that you do. And always remember we love you very much! Brandon, thanks for being a great brother! I couldn't ask for a better one!

Love,
Dad, Mom and your sister
Rachell

To Brandon Dean Davis,
Words can never express how much I am proud of you and your hard work. You are my only son and the "Apple of my Eye"; therefore, I have spoiled you. You have grown to be a wonderful young man that I knew you would. As your mother, I couldn't ask for anything more. I know you will succeed in everything that you do. Brandon, just remember one thing — I love you!

Love,
Mom

Congratulations
You did it!

Monica Finnearty,
Who would have thought that the "Teddy Bear's Picnic" would have had so much influence on you? Your Dad and I are so very proud of you! We love you dearly! Congratulations and Best Wishes for the Future!

Love Always,
Mom and Dad

Alexandria Nicole Crumble

Alexandria,

You are number one! We want to tell you how proud we are of the many accomplishments and honors that you have achieved and received. Your success has been measured not by many positions that you have held in your life so far, but by the many obstacles, which you have overcome as an African American female striving to succeed in a diverse environment. You have advanced in confidence in the direction of your dreams and endeavored to live in a life that you imagined. You have always been a trailblazer, evidenced by your being valedictorian of your class for the last four years in your high school career. Alexandria, may you continue to soar like an eagle, and when trials come that may seem difficult, don't run from the storm, but fly into it, facing your challenges head on. God has given you a double portion in gifts and talents. Don't forget to acknowledge God in all your ways, and He will direct your path.

Love, your family,

Mary, Priscilla, Liz, Faraji, Tanisha, Jamal, and (Daddy)

Congratulations
By you did it!

Through the Eyes of These Warriors

This has been a great year for the yearbook staff. They worked hard to complete the yearbook on time and cover all the important events of the year. This accomplished, they all met at Pizza Hut to celebrate the end of this year. I have never felt so lucky to have a group of students as this year's class.

The class consisted of 15 seniors and 1 junior, and never did that junior feel out of place. Editor Alexandria Crumble did a great job of trying to keep everyone on task. Co-editor Laura Yetko did whatever was asked of her in her role. Business manager Kristy Heston organized all our bake sales throughout the year.

Members of the activities section, Josh Woodward, Missy Jones, and Alisha Bennett, tried to keep up with all the activities going on and make sure everything was covered for this yearbook. The academics section members

Aimee Therault, Laura Yetko, and Patty Jakima found it difficult to find good pictures to include on their pages when they were not given notice as to "fun" events going on in the classrooms. The sports section members Laura Herrera, Leah Compton, Jordan Evans, and Kellee Garcia had the hard task of covering every sporting team at CHS. They didn't always meet their deadlines, but they never failed to cover an event. The people section members Humberto Torres, Patty Pusateri, and Kristina Monik tried to find the best way to make the portrait pages interesting for everyone. The student life section members Nichole Villarruel, Alexandria

Crumble, and Kristy Heston tried to think of new and innovative ways to represent each level of the students' lives at and around CHS.

We hope that you feel you have seen the year Through The Eye of a Warrior as we have tried to present it to you. These students are a unique bunch! - Ms. Green < Stealing much of the headlines were the events on and after Sept. 11th. More than 3,000 people lost their lives at the twin towers of the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and aboard the four hijacked commercial airliners. Also getting the spotlight were the rescue workers and volunteers who were recognized by all Americans as heroes. Sadly, it also marked the end of R&B sensation Aaliyah, another one of the Beatles' fab four,

George Harrison, and legendary comedian, Jack Lemmon. <

< After Sept. 11, sitcoms offered plenty of laughs. "Undeclared" centered on quirky college roommates faced with the freedoms of being away from home for the first time. The bewitching comedy, "Sabrina," conjured up strange changes as she became a college sophomore. "Gilmore Girls" explored the odd relationship between a mom with a heart of a teenager and a teenage daughter that acts like an adult. "Angel" used its dark humor to reveal the twists and turns of a vampire avenger in L.A. <

> NEW SITCOMS > "Scrubs" puts a wildly inventive and hilarious spin on hospital life. Instead of assaulting viewers with jokes, "Bernie Mac's" life unravels in unexpected, offbeat ways while he raises his sister's kids. Parenthood will never be the same.<

< As with everything else, it was a strange year for music. How else can you describe the success of the soundtrack "O Brother, Where Art Thou?" and Michael Jackson's less than "Invincible" return as the King of Pop? But that didn't stop *NSync, Britney Spears, Usher and the like from commanding the airwaves. Country music got a kick from Tim McGraw who was named CMA Entertainer of the Year, while ears couldn't get enough of newcomer Alicia Keys' "Songs In A Mirror." >

Selected from nearly 2,000 hopefuls, this boy band lived out their musical dreams before the eyes of millions of viewers in the reality show, "Making The Band." Making it big after a hit single, "Liquid Dreams."

It was another blockbuster year in Hollywood. "Pearl Harbor's" stunning special effects were a big hit. Singer Mandy Moore teamed up with Shane West in a sweet, idealistic love story that brings out the young romantic in everyone. Speaking of true love, young and old fell head over heels for "Shrek." Also in the field of computer-generated optical illusion, "Final Fantasy" proved to be another artistic masterpiece. In contrast, Angelina Jolie brought the video game "Tomb Raider" to life, transforming into the tough archaeologist/adventurer Lara Croft. <

< Technology continues to evolve at dizzying speeds. More compact and personal, mp3 players are killing the portable CD star. Now, CDs and mp3 files ripped off the net can be transported from the PC to your ears anywhere you go. Not to mention, portable DVD players let you catch your favorite movies on the run. 5. What were the fashion trends? Country for straight, low-rise jeans were in. And credit-hungry for causing people to switch from the baseball cap to the flocked, straw cowboy hat. The look changed after Sept. 11: People showed their true colors with the return of old glory and by wearing "I Love NY" T-shirts. The frayed, rough, fringed and fringed emerged to contrast blinged styles for a national look. Fat, meaning around, isn't too far from the truth. 5

Winter Olympics

The world's best assembled to compete at Salt Lake City. New events included the skeleton, where athletes steered their sleds headfirst. Women's bobsleigh was also seen for the first time. Five events were even added to nordic combined and shortened from two-day to one-day races. Plus, the 1500-meter short-track speed skating was unveiled. In snowboarding, the giant slalom was replaced by the parallel giant slalom as snowboarders raced head-2-head in a single-elimination format.

> Recapping a few sports highlights: the hilarity of getting a 22-year monkey off Ray Bourque's back made the Avs' 3-1 championship victory over the Devils extra sweet. And let's not forget the World Series where the Blacks after losing two dramatic games in extra innings to the Monkeys claimed the championship with a 3-2 win in game seven. His Airness also returned to the hardwood this time sporting 23 on a Wizards' jersey
